SONG.

BY W. W. FOSDICK.

By the wild witch-hazel brake,
By the silver-sanded lake,
Where the white-leaved aspens quake,
I with Carrie roved.
Zephyr kissed the greenwood bough,
Branches wooed the lark's brow,
And I kissed, I know not how,
Her I dearly loved.Upon the ground her eyes were set,
Plucking a violet,
Which her dewy tears had wet,
While her cheek was flush.
With a kiss that tears I chased,
And around her slender waist,
Tenderly my arm I laced,
She did naught but blush.The wild witch-hazel brake was green,
No eye could pierce our leafy screen,
And not another's glance had seen
That nameless joy we blest.
Carrie, said I, then be mine,
Let us thus forever twine,
And she smiled, Oh! bliss divine!
Smiled, and whispered yes!

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river in the twenty-four hours ending last evening rose about 7 inches, making 5 feet 8 inches water in the canal. The weather is clear and pleasant.

We learn from a memorandum of the steamer Virginia, which has been kindly sent us from Cairo, that the flour in the barge of the Switzerland, which was sunk at Point Chicot, has been saved in a damaged condition.

For New Orleans.—The R. J. Ward is at Portland and leaves for New Orleans positively this evening. The Ward is one of our finest passenger packets. She is not excelled in point of accommodations, while her table is rarely equaled on water or on shore. Capt. Silas F. Miller, her commander is widely known as an experienced officer and gentleman. The attentive clerks of the Ward have our thanks for favors.

For Memphis.—The elegant packet Northern, Capt. Smith, having been unavoidably detained, leaves for Memphis at 10 o'clock this morning, from Portland. The Northern has large and finely furnished cabins and state-rooms, and every appointment to render passengers comfortable. She is the pioneer in the Memphis packet line, and since she has commenced running in it, the business has so rapidly increased that the mail company intend to place another boat in the line soon. Mr. Archer, the clerk, is a polite and clever gentleman.

The Telegraph No. 3 is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day, and Rima Dean is the Carrollton packet.

The J. B. Ford is up for Wheeling and the Minerva for Pittsburgh.

For St. Louis.—The new steamer Meteor, built here, leaves for the Missouri river to-day, from the city wharf. She is an elegant craft and we recommend her to those going in that direction.

The William Dixon will leave for the Tennessee river to-day.

The Moses McLellan, Capt. Catterlin, will hereafter run in the St. Louis trade.

The Fanny Bullitt will arrive this morning and leave for New Orleans on Saturday evening.

The A. L. Shotwell will arrive to-night and leave for New Orleans on Sunday.

The Antelope and the J. H. Oglesby are also due from New Orleans.

We are indebted to the attentive officers of the Diamond for copies of her manifest and memorandum.

The Nashville True Whig has the following in regard to the steamer Humboldt, recently sunk in the Mississippi:
The boat was owned by Capt. Strong, Taylor, and Cabler, and Messrs. Matt. Martin and William Wyatt, all of this city, and was worth $35,000. She was a regular Nashville and N. Orleans packet, and made a few trips after coming out last year, but this was her first regular season. She was insured for $50,000 in the Fireman's Insurance Company of Louisville, $50,000 in another Louisville office, and $4,000 in a Cincinnati office.

She was loaded for this city and had on board 700 tons of freight, some of which we learn was insured. The negroes were worth, at the lowest figures, $20,000. The entire loss, it is thought, will not fall short of $250,000.

PORTLAND, Feb. 25, 9 P. M.
There have been no arrivals to-night and no departures since that of the Southern, at 2 o'clock.

REAL ESTATE ADVANCING.—It is with pleasure we report the increasing value of property in our city, judging from sales made by Mr. C. C. Spencer at auction on yesterday afternoon, being the first of the season. One lot 24½ feet front by 96 deep to an alley, corner of Market and Tenth streets, with an old (basement) two-story brick house thereon, sold for $2,005. One lot 25½ feet front by 96 deep (with side alley), having on it a small brick house, sold for $910. These sales clearly indicate a decided improvement in the value of real estate in our city over the past two years, and we feel satisfied that the purchasers of these lots will realize a handsome profit on their investments. Real estate buyers and speculators should be watchful, and see that bargains do not slip through their hands from negligence or inattention. There was a large attendance at this sale, and the bidding was spirited; reminding us of the years 1853 and '54. The terms of the above sale were one-third cash and six and twelve months, with interest and lien.

RETURNED.—Our theater-goers all remember Nick Johnson, who was a great favorite with them upon the boards of our theater. We are glad to learn that he has returned to this city entirely restored to health, and hope his friends will find something for him to engage in by which he may be also restored to usefulness and profit to himself and his family.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.—We understand that yesterday a man named John Talbert assaulted a Mr. Cotton, with an ax, and severely wounded him. The difficulty occurred on Dr. R. P. Hunt's farm, about nine miles below the city. Cotton was brought to the city and placed in the hospital on Chestnut street.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—On Sunday evening, the 15th, the store of Mr. T. L. Allen, near Hickman, Ky., was discovered to be on fire. The building, goods, and books and papers were destroyed. Loss $8,000.

OUR TRADE WITH MEMPHIS.—The establishment of a packet line, and thereby a ready and sure means of communication with Memphis, has always met with our encouragement and ardent support. We are gratified to learn that the present enterprise is meeting with greater success than was anticipated. It cannot fail proving, in an eminent degree, advantageous to the trade of Louisville. A new field is thus opened to our enterprise, and will bring a rich, enterprising, and prompt set of customers to our market. In order to insure the continuance of his line, our shippers should give it preference in all cases.

The Northern leaves for Memphis this afternoon at four o'clock. She is commanded by Capt. James Smith, a popular and go-ahead officer, who, with a fast, elegant, and commodious steamer, cannot fail rendering service to the public here, and all along shore between Louisville and Memphis.

DEATH OF THE ORIGINAL UNCLE TOM.—The Indianapolis Journal mentions the death in that city, on Sunday last, of Thomas Magruder, an old negro, aged about 110 years. He is supposed to have been the one who suggested the name and the leading features of the character in Mrs. Stowe's novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The latest accounts from England state that Mr. Tenbroek's horses are still at New Market, and are only taking walking exercise. The New Market trainers are waiting for fine weather to commence preparing their horses for the spring races, which will shortly commence.

THE BOSTON FAILURE.—The liabilities of the shipping house of Enoch Train & Co., in England and Australia, are stated to exceed $2,000,000. The assets, however, are also large, and a fair and honorable settlement will no doubt be made.

A German was arrested yesterday on the charge of having stolen a sum of money. He is to be examined before Judge Johnston to-day.

[Special Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.]
Another Slice of Mexico—"Waste or Shoddy?"—The Tariff—Book Distribution, &c.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25, 1857.

Before the expiration of the present week, our government will receive the treaty recently negotiated with Mexico for another slice of her "free-soil." Whatever may be the object of this acquisition, one thing is certain, namely: it is better to buy an article, even if you do not want it, than to invest our surplus millions in gunpowder for the purpose of conquering a piece! Mexico is fast melting away at the touch of the American dollars.

Not a little sport has been occasioned by the article of "waste or shoddy" which appears in the free list of the revenue act which recently passed the House and is now pending in the Senate. Under the tariff act of 1846 it is in the live percent. schedule, and yielded the extraordinary sum in one year of about twenty-five dollars! Some of the representatives were much concerned about this article; they insisted that it should be admitted free. Their wish has been gratified. But what is this "waste or shoddy?" Merely the clippings from the surface of woolen cloths—the shearings of the goods.

In a former letter I merely gave the outline of the new measure which so successfully passed through the House. Even those calling themselves "free-trade men" preferred that bill to none at all, in view of the evils to be apprehended from an overflowing treasury. The friends of American manufactures are generally pleased with the bill, all things considered. It is an alternative measure, in which, as far as possible, all the conflicting interests are accommodated. It is the best which can now be consummated. The Senate ought to pass it as it is, and probably will, for if they send it back to the House with important amendments, it may be lost.

Several little incidental points may here be mentioned. While that bill was in the House, Mr. Campbell, of Ohio (who worked manfully to "put it through"), asked Gen. Quitman at what time he expected the Democratic party would put itself squarely on the platform of free-trade and direct taxation; to which the General, with his usual candor, replied, that "some of the delegates to the Cincinnati convention were very busy on some of the principles of the Democratic party." Therefore he could not answer the question; but he added, "I can only live in hope that they will carry it out" at no distant day. It should be remembered that several of the "big guns" have recently thundered out this policy of the Democratic party. One of the New England men wanted to add to the free list the article of "gut" (for whips); whereupon a jovial representative suggested, as a prefix, "rot," and a jolly gentleman from New York moved to add the word "whisky," so as to read "rot-gut whisky;" but this insertion was not made.

The subject of book distribution among the new members of the present Congress has occupied the attention of the House. An amendment was offered to the "Deficiency Bill," appropriating $183,755 for that purpose. During the debate, it was maintained that, as the old members had heretofore received their share of books, it was just that the new ones should be treated with equal justice; while on the opposite side, it was contended that the compensation law (increasing the pay of members) was intended to preclude the books, and that history showed that such books had been sold by members to speculators, who again and again sold them to the Government, to be similarly disposed of. In other words, that the system was a swindle. The amendment was agreed to in committee by a decided majority, but when it was reported to the House, for concurrence, it received only twenty-seven affirmative votes, against ninety-six in the negative. Fifty or sixty who sanctioned the proposition by passing through the tellers in committee would not incur the responsibility of recording their names in the House, in its favor.

Mr. Payne, in allusion to the fact that the old members having, at previous Congresses, supplied themselves and now refused to furnish the new members with similar books, related an anecdote, leaving the aforesaid old members to make the application. A man in his country, he said, came in to dinner, said grace, and sat down and commenced eating heartily and hastily. His hands were called, but before they had fairly made preparations for satisfying the inner man, the host rose from the table, and said that he was satisfied, and thought it was time that all had done.

The New York Tribune gives a facetious account of the cowering of a merchant by a California woman in that city, at a fashionable boarding house, before a large company of ladies and gentlemen, some evenings since. The unfortunate man had been "talking about" the incensed female. The cowering cut the more tender article on the gentleman's face severely. He had heard what was coming and had provided a police officer to take the inflammable lady in custody, but the representative of law and order was overwhelmed in the noise and confusion, and after enjoying the fun for a few moments departed.

MARRIED.
On Tuesday, the 24th inst., in Newcastle, Ky., by the Rev. S. S. Sumner, Thos. MURPHY, of this city, and formerly of Baltimore, to SALLIE M. McDONALD, of Newcastle, Ky.

In this city, on Friday, the 29th inst., of a disease of the heart, Dr. ZANE JOHNSTON, in the 24th year of his age.

PORK PACKING IN THE WEST.

[From the Cincinnati Price-Current, Feb. 25.]
SINCE our last issue, returns from several places not previously heard from, came to hand. We have now arranged the returns received in tabular form, and finding the deficiency somewhat larger than was generally anticipated, we hasten to place the statement before the readers of the Price-Current. The returns are nearly complete, and are sufficiently so for all practical purposes, as those from the few places yet to be heard from will not essentially change the general result.

We have yet to hear from Urbana and Wilmington, in this State; Canton, Hickman, and Paducah, in Kentucky; Urbana, in Tennessee; Cairo, Cairo, Desoto, Grayville, Rock Island, and Pittsburg, in Illinois; Fort Madison and Iowa City, in Iowa; and Milwaukee, in Wisconsin. As soon as the returns from these places are received, we will publish the statement in full, together with the exports by railroads to the East, which are not yet at hand. The exports to the East, so far as they have been received, compare as follows:

Great Western Railway from Detroit.....137,225
Central Pennsylvania from Pittsburg.....40,059
177,284Increase this season.....22,105
Three returns are from September 1st to February 1st, each season.

Below will be found the returns from each place heard from, placed in alphabetical form. It will be seen that the previous seasons:

EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 26, 1857.

THE INDIAN WAR IN FLORIDA.—The Key West correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer, under date of Feb. 16, writes that the U. S. transport steamer Fashion had arrived at that port from Tampa and Punta Rosa (Gen. Harney's headquarters). The Fashion was on her way to Miami to meet General H., who is scouring the hammocks between the two places. The officers of the Fashion report the discovery of an Indian encampment with everything left in confusion, as if their flight had been precipitate. They left fires burning, their dinners cooking, their blankets, axes, and dogs. From appearances, the encampment had consisted of about thirty Indians.

DISASTROUS DEATH.—We understand that, on the 8th inst., Michael O'Laughlin, of Mason county, Illinois, went out gunning, and was killed by his gun bursting. His brother, Thomas O'Laughlin, who resides here, upon hearing of the fatal accident, fell from his chair and came near dying. Under the care of Dr. Gilmore he is now convalescent.

A LOUISVILLIAN GARBOTED.—On Saturday night James W. Clark, of this city, at present boarding in Brooklyn, was garroted and robbed of $65 in gold. A cabinetmaker named Beecher has been arrested for the robbery, but denies his guilt and says Clark is mistaken in the person.

Advices from Zanibar of November 26 state that the Sultan of Muscat died on the 18th of October on board her Britannic Majesty's frigate Victoria, when on his passage from the capital to Zanibar. He was sixty-nine years of age and leaves twelve sons.

Wm. H. Levison, the editor of the New York Picayune, died on Friday, at the age of thirty-five years. Mr. L. was well-known as a writer in the light, comic or ludicrous vein, more particularly by his nom de plume of "Julius Caesar Hannibal."

At the annual meeting of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, a few evenings since, the salary of the pastor, Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, was increased by the sum of one thousand dollars, making it now five thousand.

Among the passengers on board the steamer Washington that sailed last Saturday for Bremen was E. A. Preuss of this city.

THE GERMAN OPERA.—The representation of "Maria, the Daughter of the Regiment," will be repeated at Concert Hall to-morrow night, not to-night, as erroneously stated in a morning paper. Better arrangements have been made in the wardrobe department, and a larger chorus and orchestra will support the performance.

THE VARIETIES.

The statement that a treaty has been made and a negotiation in progress, under which this Government agrees to lend that of Mexico $15,000,000, upon a pledge or mortgage of the Tehuantepec route and the province of Sonora, is now said to be a fiction. The Department of State has no information from Mr. Forsyth to this purport, and he has no authority to make or propose such an arrangement.

An old gentleman who has dabbled all his life in statistics, says he never heard of but one woman who insured her life, and he accounts for this by the singular fact of one of the questions being, "what is your age?"

Mrs. Seymour, one of the witnesses in the Durdell inquest, has commenced proceedings against Coroner Conner for false imprisonment. The papers have been made out in due form and served upon the Coroner by the sheriff. She claims $10,000 damages.

The published report of the results of the earthquake of Candia shows that 10,223 houses were ruined or seriously damaged, and that 1,122 persons were killed and mutilated.

The Queen of England's Head-Dress.—This pretty affair has 20 diamonds in a circle, worth $7,500 each—two large ones worth $100,000 each, four diamond crosses in the top of the crown, worth $200,000, twelve others in flukes of the crown, worth $50,000, eighteen small ones, also worth $50,000, pearls worth $50,000, 141 small diamonds, and 2,500 twenty-six diamonds in the upper cross worth $1,500, two circles of pearls, which are worth $15,000. All these stones are set in gold and cost, aside from the precious metal, $559,500. Within the limited shores of England, whose government supports a woman who wears this bauble on her head on state occasions, there are at least one hundred subjects per day who die of actual starvation.

Great destruction of property has occurred in southeastern Missouri in consequence of the freshets in the rivers. The damage to the Iron Mountain Railroad is estimated at $200,000.

Privateering.—Com. Thomas A. C. Jones has published a letter, in which he argues on the "Necessity of privateers in time of war," and contends that the effect of the recognition of the doctrine advanced by the Paris Conference, in favor of abolishing privateering and exempting private property on the high seas from prize of war, would be to enable the great naval powers of the old world, and with perfect impunity, by blockade, to annihilate the commerce of weak States, besides laying waste all seacoast towns and cities, as well as agricultural districts, approachable by fleets and their boats. The Commodore thinks there is "a morbid sensibility of the times, which, if not speedily rebuked, will strip violated law of its terror, and leave the murderer and the felon to stalk abroad in noonday unwhipped of justice."

JAMES HEWETT & CO.'S CIRCULAR.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 6th, 1857.

Cotton.—The market was pretty steady at the commencement of the week, but there the receipt of advices per American holders had been more willing to sell; and owing to the limited demand, ordinary and middling qualities of American have declined about 1-4d, while fair Orleans and Mobile have advanced 1-4d per lb. Business in Manchester remains dull, and prices of both goods and yarn are lower. Middling Orleans 7 1/4d; Mobile, 7 1/4d, and bowed 7 1/4d.

Tobacco.—We quote Virginia Leaf, 8d to 10d; Strips, 11d to 15d; Kentucky Leaf, 8d to 11d; and Strips, 11d to 15d; Maryland (round) 9 1/4d to 9 3/4d. Bacon.—The market for American and Asia, confirming previous intelligence from the United States, in reference to the hog crop, and of speculations there being entered upon in all articles of provisions, have induced receivers here to be more sanguine as to the future healthfulness of the trade. In this they will be encouraged by the very unexpected high prices paid for old beef and pork, at the Government sale at Deptford, yesterday. Thus far the receipts of new bacon have been of the earlier curing, and are not altogether free from objection; still the average of prices has been good, and the aggregate of sales fully equal to those of the corresponding period of last year.

Pork.—New is scarce and much wanted; the nominal value is 8s to 9s. Some 300 bbls of old sold yesterday evening at 8s. At the Government sale in Deptford yesterday, old brought 8s for bbls to 16s for tierces.

Lard.—At the date of our last there was an active demand, principally from refiners, which resulted in the selling out of a small lot of tierces, as well as the subsequent receipt of some 50 tons per "Erebus," at 70s. At the moment refiners seem to be supplied, and there is a pause in the trade. We hear that the refiners for lard to arrive, and to be delivered in March.

Oil.—The small stock of some 11,256 casks, against 25,000 last year, united with the certainty of receipts on the 1st inst. until after March, has served to give more buoyancy to the market; and, under the influence of speculation, prices have advanced 2s 6d within the past week. The closing quotations on the spot are for St. Petersburg, 64 C, 6s 6d; North American (Butcher's Association), 63 1/2 C.

NICARAGUA NEWS.

Battle of Obraje.—On the 24th of January, General Henningsen was ordered to attack the allies at Obraje, under the command of General Canas, with between three and four hundred men. Obraje is about nine miles from Rivas, and as soon after the order had been given as it could be reached, it was attacked; and notwithstanding they found it better fortified and occupied by a stronger force than they had anticipated, they continued the fight during the entire day. At no time had they any prospect of driving the allies from their position, and yet they continued to charge the barricades; and, as they were beaten back to fire upon the enemy while retreating out of range. This course was followed without serious results, until Gen. Henningsen, satisfied that he had not sufficient force to dislodge them, determined to remain for a time as near out of range as would afford his men comparatively safe opportunity of occasionally picking off those of the allies who exposed themselves to their fire. After some twenty hours of such fighting, his men began to show unmistakable signs of fatigue, and having had three men killed and three wounded, Capt. Phinney mortally—he fell back upon Rivas.

They state the loss of the allies at 80 killed and 100 wounded. I have it on Costa Rican authority, that the loss of the allies was 21 killed and 32 wounded, and that they had but 700 men in the town.

The Battle of San George.—After a few hours had been allowed for refreshment and rest, Gen. Walker issued an order to Gen. Henningsen to attack the enemy and drive them from San George, one league from Rivas. On the 28th of January Gen. Henningsen marched upon the town with three hundred men—as large a force as could be spared from Rivas. When within a half a mile of the place, the General sent out parties to the right and left, to reconnoitre. Capt. Higler commanded the party on the right, and soon after he was in motion, the fight commenced with a discharge of grape from the enemy, at 500 yards, which wounded thirteen of Walker's men. Immediately following this, the left flank was charged by a party of Costa Ricans, as they were entering a plain patch within the limits of the town. The Walker men received the charging party warmly, and after nearly two-thirds had been killed, the remainder retired behind their fortifications. The Walker force claim to have killed more than one hundred of the charging party. The Costa Ricans were led by Gen. Busche, who was found dead on the field, with a sword by his side that was lost by Gen. Walker at the first battle of Masaya. A number of Costa Ricans found dead had cords upon their legs, tied in such a manner as to enable them to walk, but to prevent their running.

When the remainder of the charging party had retreated, the Walker men charged the barricades several times, but finding them adobe and 10 feet high they did not succeed, and finally they fell back upon Rivas again, after having lost: Killed, 27; wounded, 57—many of whom are officers. They report the loss of the allies to have been killed, 200; wounded, 400—out of a force of 1,500. The Costa Ricans state their own force and loss as follows: force, 1100; killed, 98; wounded, 225.

Among those on Gen. Walker's list as killed are the names of Capt. Russell and Capt. Johnson, and among the mortally wounded Col. Jacques and Maj. Dusenbury.

Immediately after the failure at San George, Gen. Walker proceeded to San Juan del Sur, with 800 men, to meet the recruits expected to arrive from California by the steamship Orizaba. He arrived at San Juan on the 30th, and expected to find some 500 recruits. Unfortunately for him, there were but 44 under command of Maj. Torey and Capt. Buchanan. The company joined the Nicaraguan service as the Stockton Rangers. They were recruited by Major Torey, and Capt. Buchanan was elected after the formation of the company. Although somewhat disappointed, Gen. Walker did not appear disheartened in consequence of the small number of his recruits; and when he left to return to Rivas on the 2d of February, he declared his intention of making another attack upon San George as soon as possible after reaching his headquarters.

The force now at San George consists, as near as I have been able to learn, of about 1,500 men, mostly Costa Ricans, in good condition, and well fortified; while the most favorable reports of Walker's strength place it at 700. This, of course, he must divide when he attacks the enemy—leaving a portion to protect Rivas.

The Attack upon Sarapiquí.—Col. Rudler's Account.—The steamer Texas, from New Orleans, arrived at San Juan del Norte on the morning of the 4th inst., with 200 recruits for General Walker, under command of H. T. Titus. The little river boat Rescue came alongside as soon as the steamer came to anchor, and in an hour afterwards she was steaming up the San Juan river with all on board. Col. Lockridge has established his camp at Patucaz Point. This camp we reached before sundown. Here we found Major Ellis's command 220 strong. Col. Titus's command was landed a short distance above. On the 5th preparations were made to move up the river to within a short distance of Fort Sarapiquí. The river to the Costa Ricans. On the 6th orders were given to move, which we obeyed with the whole command with the exception of 50 men left to hold Patucaz. At 8 o'clock, A. M., we embarked on the Rescue and a launch and proceeded up to within one mile of Fort Sarapiquí, where we landed our force on the right bank and out of reach of the enemy's guns. No time was lost. As soon as all were landed the order was given to march on Cody's Point, then occupied by the Costa Rican forces. Col. Anderson commanded the advance, 100 men; Col. Titus, the main body, 150 men; and Major Ellis, the rear, 100 men.

Col. Rudler acted as guide. He being acquainted with the locality, it was thought best to let him be free to act in that capacity, and give such directions for the disposition of the forces as the nature of the country required. A detail of twelve men was thrown in front, with machetes to cut a trail through the impenetrable undergrowth. After entering the forest we soon found that it was impossible to keep along the river bank, owing to the marshy state of the ground. We therefore made our way to the hill, where we found the earth more firm. After a tedious march of four hours, through mud, water, and ravines, we reached the high eminence in which we were to fight. Here the command was halted for a few moments. When the march had rested sufficiently, the order was given to forward to the attack. I never saw men more eager for the fray—each one was anxious to have the first "greaser." The enemy no doubt had notice of our approach, as there were but few on the Point. Those were either killed or scattered through the wood, from which they will never be able to extricate themselves.

There was quite a sharp fire kept up for about ten minutes between our men and the fort on the opposite side. Col. Titus, seeing that our men were doing but little execution by firing across the river, and that they were exposing themselves unnecessarily, gave the order to cease firing and retire out of range of the enemy's grape. After this, Col. Rudler and Col. Anderson went down the river trail to communicate with the fort. She was in the middle of the river, about one thousand yards below, throwing round shot at the fort with great effect. The artillery is under the command of Gen. Wheat. While communicating with Col. Lockridge on the steamboat the enemy fired on them from ambush. Col. Rudler was badly wounded, but succeeded in making his escape. Col. Anderson fortunately got off without injury. The enemy then turned their fire on the steamer, when Gen. Wheat, being under the impression that our men had the enemy surrounded, dare not fire on them, fearing he might kill our own men. The boat then backed down the river. Col. Anderson's return to the main body, Capt. Harris, with his company, was ordered down to attack the enemy. On hearing that he was fired on, and the boys gave them a volley that will be long remembered by the few that were able to make their escape into the thicket. First Lieut. Bowman was killed at the first fire. Capt. Harris completely routed them, securing all their baggage, &c.

This, Mr. Editor, is a plain statement of facts. I cannot call it a battle, as it was only a skirmish. By it we have secured a very favorable position—one that commands the fort on Kip's Point, directly opposite. We necessarily have to move slowly, owing to the heavy rains and the bad state of the ground. As soon as we get our guns placed in battery we shall knock their fort into a cocked hat in two hours. The enemy's loss is variously estimated; my estimate is, twenty killed and about thirty wounded.

Our loss is but trifling.

Statement of Major Snyder.—Major Snyder, of California, one of the passengers of the Tennessee, has furnished our reporter with the following account of his personal interview with Gen. Walker, and the statements made by Walker, of the present force under his command, and the strength and situation of the Costa Rican army.

He found the General occupying exceedingly comfortable quarters, and reclining on a hammock. The General received him with great cordiality, and conversed with unrestrained freedom of matters pertaining to his own army and the Costa Rican forces. His own force, he stated, was 800 men. Of these, 350 men were then stationed at San Juan del Sur, under his own immediate command. The remaining men were at Rivas, and enjoyed, and sea. The men were all in good spirits, and enjoyed, as a general thing, excellent health. He was satisfied that the men would stick by him, and that, with additional recruits to arrive, he should be able to conquer his enemies. He said that Gen. Wheat, with his army of 700 men at Greytown, would soon fight his way through the lake and form a junction with his own force. He should not in any case attempt to fight his way to Gen. Wheat. Of the Costa Rican force a great portion were men who had been impressed into the service. At the battle of San George, fought on the 29th of January, as proof of this statement, he said, there were found among the killed numbers chained together two by two to prevent their running away from him.

The total Costa Rican force he set down at 2,800 men. Of these, 1,500 men were stationed at St. George; and the remainder occupied different posts around the lake and down the river. He expressed his confidence that a force of one-fifth of the Costa Ricans was all that was needed to overcome them. The battles that they had already fought, he claimed, proved this fact beyond contradiction.

The General was very sanguine of achieving final and undisputed dominion over Nicaragua. Men, ammunition, and provisions were to be sent to him as he wanted them. At that time, he said he had six months' provisions on hand, and all the equipments and armaments he wanted.

Subsequent to his interview with Gen. Walker he visited the apartments occupied by the officers and men under his command. The apartments were all in good order and composed mainly of dwelling houses. There was a large number of officers as compared with the number of privates. He estimated the whole force at 250 men, rank and file, one hundred less than the number stated by General Walker. On account of the multitude of officers, Lieutenants and Captains stood nowhere, and a Major was but slightly noticed.

Both officers and privates, as far as he conversed with them, expressed more anxiety to get away than to remain. Grant, formerly of the U. S. army, told him that for seven months' service he had received only fifty cents pay. The soldiers did not dare to attempt to desert, because they knew that if taken they would be shot without mercy. No one could get away without a passport, and the most rigid surveillance was kept upon all their movements. The majority of those who deserted were Germans and Frenchmen.

There were several ladies at Gen. Walker's headquarters; they all expressed no very high estimation of the service, and, woman-like, rebelled at the idea of being obliged to get up and pass over to get away. They stated, moreover, that the general supply of pork was not commensurate with the supply of beef. As for the matter of food generally, the Major states that the soldiers made no special complaint. Their clothing, however, was worn nearly to shreds, with but little prospect of a replenishing stock. In respect to sleeping blankets, there was a general destitution and consequent complaint.

Altogether the Major, from what he had witnessed and heard at General Walker's headquarters, and from facts he had previously gathered, retired, he says, to the steamer, satisfied that the present position of the General was far from firm and secure. It was well understood, and so talked over by General Walker's officers, that his object was not dominion over Nicaragua, but to achieve a sovereign power over the whole of Central America, and a portion of Southern Mexico. Whether he would ever accomplish the object of his ambition was for the future to reveal. He saw enough of Gen. Walker's present position to assure himself that his maintaining it any length of time depended wholly upon the amount of further succor he should receive. His position was a bad one.

RETROSPECTION.

A Pilgrim to the Approaching Inauguration on the 4th of March next.

On the 4th of March, and on Pennsylvania Avenue, apart from the crowd, will be seen an aged man plodding his way to the Capitol Hill, a pilgrim to the inauguration.

Since the inaugurations have occurred at the city of Washington this individual has made pilgrimages to them, by visiting a certain spot near the Capitol, where once was a large stone, on which that pilgrim would sit during the performance of the ceremonies in the building, and when the first gun announced that the ceremonies were complete the pilgrim would rise, and pronouncing the name of the new President, and his date in the order of succession of the Chief Magistrates, the old man would remark, "What next?" and then take up his line of march for his home in Virginia.

This pilgrim has had the rare honor of personally knowing, taking by the hand, and breaking bread with the President of the United States. Brought up in his youth at the then seat of the National Government, he enjoyed the most distinguished opportunities of seeing and knowing much of the great men and great things that illustrated and adorned the early age of the republic, dignified to all time as the age of Washington, storing his mind at that auspicious period of his life with recollections the most imposing of the olden time and the glorious memories of the past.

On the inauguration of Mr. Madison, in 1809, the pilgrim departed from his usual habit of being merely a "looker-on in Virginia," and took a somewhat remarkable part in the events of the day. When the President retired from the Capitol, on rushed the crowd to the worship of the rising sun. The avenue was nearly deserted, while the hum of the multitude faded in the distance; then appeared on horseback, and entirely alone, Thomas Jefferson. The old pilgrim pointed out this spectacle to two revolutionary officers, Col. Thos. Parker and Maj. Butler (who were lookers on), saying, "See, gentlemen, how soon a great man becomes neglected, and his services forgotten in America when he ceases to be the fountain of patronage and power. Whatever may be the revolutionary patriot and statesman's politics now, they were of the right sort in 1776, and led to the independence of his country. Honor to whom honor is due." The revolutionary veterans now begged to be introduced, and the small party falling into line, the retired Chief Magistrate was escorted on his route, down the avenue, by a trio of his political opponents.

The pilgrim's stone has been removed for some years, to make way for the improvements of the grounds about the palace of the National Legislature, but the pilgrim will be somewhere near the ancient spot, and while the sounds of artillery still linger about the echoes of the Capitol, the old man will take up his line of march for his home in Virginia.

A PERFUMED BREATH.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath when, by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice, would not only render it sweet but leaves the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty-cent bottle will last a year.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," which will remove tan, pimples, and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and rosy hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning.

SHAVING MADE EASY.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well, and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving.

Dr. R. D. Porter.—Since having been induced to purchase several bottles of your Oriental Life Liniment, by the many valuable recipes which you publish, I was persuaded to give it a trial in frost-bites and fresh cuts and wounds, which I found essentially beneficial. My brother has also tried it in diseases of horses—one case where the left hip was shrinking away, producing stiffness of the entire limb, rendering the animal almost useless—has used but one bottle and part of a second, and assured me it had almost effected a cure. I have no hesitancy in recommending it, and believe it is a valuable remedy in the diseases attending man or beast, for which you offer it to the public.

Office at Louisville, Union Telegraph Office.

FIRE.—About one o'clock to-day a large fire was seen raging above Jeffersonville, and the supposition at the wharf was that it was the pork house of Hamilton, Ricketts, & Co. The bell at the ferry landing gave the alarm, and three of the fire companies came to the landing with their apparatus, and went across on the ferry.

The building on fire proved to be the mold left at Messrs. Howard's shipyard. It was totally destroyed with all its contents, consisting of all the models, the finest tools, and a large quantity of lumber. Their loss is estimated at $2,000. No insurance.

The fire broke out while the workmen were at dinner, and spread with so much rapidity that the clothes left by the workmen in the building were destroyed.

No fire was ever used in the building, and its origin is ascribed to carelessness.

PUBLIC MEETING.—RECEPTION OF DR. KANE'S REMAINS.—We are requested to call a meeting of citizens at the Merchant's Exchange to-morrow (Friday) night, to make arrangements for the reception of the remains of Dr. Kane, which are to arrive here in a few days.

This mere announcement will be sufficient, we presume, to insure a large attendance. Respect is due to the lamented dead, and all classes should feel honored in the privilege of according a testimonial to one who proved himself so honorable to humanity and his country.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Thursday, February 26. Andrew J. McMannaway was charged with his old offence of making a great deal of noise at the instigation of whisky. His own recognizance taken in $200 to keep the peace for three months.

Eliza Jones was found drunk at 1 o'clock this morning. Having a sick family at home she was discharged.

Simon Schwied, who is just from the workhouse, was given a new permit to that institution. He says that, having to walk ten miles yesterday, he took some stimulants, which limbered his legs and thickened his tongue. Sent out for three months.

Hannah Bardsley, an old woman, residing on Chestnut street, near the corner of Third, has been a great annoyance to her neighbors for some time. She is of very vicious and cruel propensities—a regular virago and termagant. Sent to the workhouse for six months.

Lawrence Johnston had defrauded Miles Sandridge out of two dollars, in the following fashion: S. desired to have a two dollar bill changed, and J. professed to obtain the change if he would treat him. He then repaired to a coffee house on the Portland wharf, bought a bottle of whisky for ten cents, and immediately decamped. Afterward they met in the city, but he did not recognize Sandridge. However, he gave him half the whisky. Sandridge is from Perry county, Ind., on his first trip from home, and owns up to being verdant and correspondingly moral. Johnston was sent to the work-house for three months.

John Fender and John Hertz were charged with assaulting Peter Cline and robbing him of fifty-five dollars. There was a free fight last Monday night at Darius' coffee-house, on the corner of Marshall and Shelby streets. The lights were blown out, and nobody could testify who was injured, who made the assault, or anything else definite. One witness said the room was "full of fight," and the men were certainly full of beer. Fender was required to give bail in $200 and Hertz in $100 to answer for misdemeanor.

FIRE.—About 2 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the Cincinnati Exchange on the wharf, between Third and Fourth streets. The house was the property of George Fetter, and the establishment kept by Mr. Ludkeman, who lost most of his household goods and bar-stores.

EVENING BULLETIN.

[From this morning's Journal.]

SEVENTH CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION.

Wednesday, Feb. 25, P. M.

Senate.—The submarine telegraph bill was taken up.

Mr. Toombs resumed his remarks against the bill, calling it a violation of the constitution, of justice, and a scheme which would subvert no interests except those of speculators and jobbers.

Mr. Thompson, of Kentucky, moved to postpone further consideration of the bill until the 5th of March—26 against 26.

House.—Mr. Davis, of Maryland, called up the resolution of the select committee for the expulsion of Wm. A. Gillett.

Mr. Bennett, of New York, said that certain parts of the testimony of the witnesses Sweeney and Simonton were not published, with the evidence of suppressed testimony deemed imported material to Gilbert's defence.

Mr. Davis, of Maryland, remarked that there was no evidence which had not been printed.

Mr. Bennett said he could prove that Sweeney was induced to swear just so much as would convict Gilbert and no more. Every honest man would rebel against such conduct.

Mr. Warner asked on what authority Mr. Bennett made his statement.

Mr. Bennett declined answering. He said that if gentlemen would go to the printing office he would see what was stricken out.

Mr. Bennett replied that Gilbert not only wished but demanded a trial on the presentment against him.

Humphrey Marshall said that being the case it did not matter whether all the testimony was printed or not, as he supposed the witnesses themselves would be produced here.

Mr. Craig understood that the accused had put in an answer to the charges.

The speaker remarked that it had been decided.

Mr. Nichols said in this particular case an answer had been made and printed, and would be filed to-day by the member particularly implicated.

Mr. Bennett caused to be read a paper from Mr. Gilbert, who denies the truth of the charges preferred against him, and demands a trial. He asks that certain testimony ex parte of Sweeney and Simonton be produced and printed, deeming it to contain matters material to his defence.

Mr. Bennett offered a resolution having the latter subject in view, and moved to recommitt the report.

Mr. Orr, on the part of the committee, said that Simonton declined to give the names of certain witnesses, except upon condition that they should not be published as evidence.

Mr. Orr assumed that this was not testimony affecting the merits of the case. It was merely the surmises of Simonton. He had no objection to sending to the printing office and obtaining everything suppressed.

Mr. Bennett remarked that they have a right to a statement that would show that Sweeney swore to order.

Mr. Davis of Maryland said the committee are not aware of any suppression of evidence touching any facts concerning the person accused, or which could bear on the fairness of the proceedings. Simonton did give the names of witnesses by whom testimony was given, but Simonton was not compelled to give them as testimony.

Mr. McMillen said it was the duty of Congress to give the accused a fair trial. This was according to the meaneast criminal. In his opinion the committee had performed their duty creditably to themselves and the nation, but he was for giving the accused everything he could in fairness ask, including the suppressed testimony, which is deemed by the accused essential to his defence.

Mr. Orr said that he had sent to the printing office for the original document. This was subsequently compared in some parts with the printed volume, and it appeared that these omissions were made, among others, to the following effect: When Sweeney was examined as to Gilbert, he said: "I do not wish to launch on a sea of this kind, as I shall be liable to break down the testimony I have already given." In another part Sweeney says: "It seems to me that you already have evidence enough to convict him (Gilbert)." And again, witness said to the committee, "You should not lead me so far off as to make what I have said impeachable."

Mr. Orr said that there was a change in every respect.

At the instance of Sweeney, who wished to present his testimony fairly and properly before the House, Mr. Stanton inquired whether the committee consented to the mode of trial.

Mr. Orr replied that it was for the House to determine whether they would give the matter the go-by, but for himself he would not consent to give the accused members higher and greater privilege than those which have been enjoyed by members heretofore.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.

The Jefferson City correspondent of the Democrat learns from the passengers from Kansas, to-night, that a difficulty has occurred between Geary and Sherrod, growing out of the refusal of the former to appoint the latter sheriff, as desired. It had a fatal termination. Sherrod showed the purpose of killing Geary. Meeting the Governor in the street, he spat in his face. Geary did not resent, but his friends got up an indignation meeting on Thursday the 19th. Sheriff Jones, Sherrod, and others attempted to interrupt the meeting, and in the fray Sherrod shot Mr. Sheppard, one of Geary's friends, four times, and wounded two others. Mr. Jones, the Governor's secretary, shot Sherrod through the head, killing him instantly.

Great excitement prevailed at LeCompton, and a general fight was anticipated that night. Geary's residence was guarded by the United States troops.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.

Mr. Edwards has prepared a statement of considerable length solemnly asserting the falsity and his innocence, both in fact and intention. The charge is unsupported by proof, relying only on mistaken references and impressions.

Mr. Matteson will also submit a defence.

The House was in continuous session of seven hours and a half in the Gilbert case. The galleries were densely crowded.

Hon. Charles Sumner rested yesterday at Philadelphia, and reached Washington this evening somewhat weary but quite comfortable.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 25.

The family of Dr. Kane have accepted the offer of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and the remains will be brought home by way of Wheeling and Baltimore.

The Maryland Institute to-night held a meeting and passed resolutions testifying their respect for Dr. Kane.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.

M. Stoeckl and Senor Tassara severally presented their credentials and were received by the President as Ministers from Russia and Spain.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.

The Tennessee sailed this afternoon. In consequence of orders from the owners no passengers were taken save those having tickets direct from their office. Many filibusters, having passage tickets procured elsewhere, were refused passage, in consequence of which there was great excitement.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, under date of Feb. 22, writes: I learn from a private dispatch sent here by the Asia, that the British capitalists who have taken up the Honduras railroad enterprise have bought out the American holders of the grant, and are about to set the work energetically on foot. It will be positively commenced in April.

I was told to-night on reliable authority that in a correspondence between the Attorney General and Charles Morgan, the former stated that if there were any recruits for Walker on board the Tennessee on her next trip, the authorities had instructions to seize the vessel.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 25, P. M.

The river is rising very slowly with 16 feet water in the channel. Weather clear.

EVANSVILLE, Feb. 25, P. M.

The following boats have passed here since last evening: Steamers Sultana, Wm. Knox, R. M. Patton No. 2, Belmont, Fanny Bullitt, and Shenango passed up. Steamers Melnotte, Fashion, and Lebanon passed down. The Kate Sarchett and V. K. Stevenson arrived out of the Washburn river last night. The Gov. Powell left last night for the Washburn. Weather clear and mild.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.

The river is still falling. Weather clear and pleasant. The bank bill passed the Senate to-day by a vote of 21 against 8.

GREEN-HOUSES.—It is a common error of gardeners and amateur growers of green-house plants at this season, to increase the temperature of their houses, until it frequently reaches 85 deg. in the day time, and 60 deg. at night. Others commit a more serious blunder by giving to the house a temperature as great at night as during the day. Both of these errors should be avoided, if good, healthy plants and full, perfect blossoms are desired for March and April. The temperature should not exceed 70 deg. at any time during the day, but should generally range at about 60 deg., and, during the night, at a temperature of 50 deg.

Frozen Plants.—Should your plants, by any accident, get frozen, set the pots at once into tubs of water and sprinkle the branches with soft rain water. Often the delicate, tender roots just inside the pots are injured by drying and freezing, so as to cause death when had they been protected by immersion in water, the half hardy or shrubby nature of the plant would have suffered little injury from the frost. This is especially so with Fuschias, Tea Roses, Camellias, &c.

Green Fly on Plants.—At this season, plants in a green-house or warm rooms are much affected with the green fly; many remedies are in use, but the simplest and best is smoking with tobacco. Young men might often put in the time during a call upon young ladies by smoking for the benefit of the house plants, and at the same time give the young lady an exemplification of the state of things when married to an inveterate smoker.

In green-houses, a pan of live coals is placed upon the floor, fine tobacco is strewn over the coals, the house then closed tightly, and left from one to three hours, according as the fly is more or less abundant. After being thus smoked, it should be thoroughly syringed with warm water. A dull, cloudy day should always be selected for this purpose.

The Heliotrope is one of the plants injured by tobacco smoke, and, when the house is so fumigated, all Heliotropes should be taken out.

House plants can be smoked separately by placing sticks crossways, midway of an old barrel, thus forming a kind of grid, and setting the barrel on its side, placing the barrel over the coals and cover with a barrel-cover or thick woolen blanket. After smoking, dip them freely in a tub of warm water.

STRETCHES IN SHEEP.—INQUIRY.—EDS. RURAL. Allow me through the Rural to inquire the cause of and a remedy (if there be any) for what is termed stretches in sheep. I have lost several with the disease. It seems to attack the best in the flock and as yet none have recovered.—E. Skaneateles, N. Y.

REMARKS.—As a partial reply to the above we mention the following facts in connection with the transaction of the New York State Agricultural Society. It says: "This is the popular name of a malady which generally attacks vigorous sheep in high health. It is produced by an obstruction of the intestines, and is caused by one portion of the bowels becoming introduced into another part. The suffering is extreme, and is manifested by spasmodic contortions of the sheep, its lying down, stretching and rolling upon the ground. Death speedily follows, unless relief is promptly afforded. In connection with the use of powerful cathartics, the most successful practice I have known is to raise the animal entirely from the ground by the hind legs, and hold it in that position a few seconds. Let this operation be repeated several times, with short intervals. I have seen sheep, which were suffering the keenest agonies, relieved immediately by this process. The disease is probably induced by the exclusive use of dry food, and may be averted by changing to vegetable food." If any of our correspondents or readers are possessed of experience in the treatment of this disease we would be pleased to hear from them.

SENATE CHAMBER, Feb. 4, 1829.

1. Keep the colts in pretty good order, not too fat, until they are two years old, then break them "gently."
2. Keep them in lots, it does not matter as to size, taking care not to allow them to see other horses more than possible.
- 3 and 4. Grass lots are best, and short grass.
5. Dry food mostly—when young, cut oats.
6. Give corn in the winter; oats in the summer; not more at a time than they eat clean. When they are once fat, very light feeding is best.
7. It is not at all necessary to rub them until they are two years old.
8. Wean the colts at about six months old.

Should the above answers to your questions not be sufficiently explicit, they will be with great pleasure added to. Respectfully,
WM. R. JOHNSON.

JOHN MARSHALL, Esq.

DAILY REVIEW OF THE MARKET.
LOUISVILLE, February 25.

Money market very tight. Exchanges have a downward tendency, and we quote Eastern sight at $\frac{1}{2}$ (3/4) prem., and New Orleans at 1 prem., at which, we understand, some of the banks are checking.

Pork market excited. We publish this morning the returns of the hog crop, made up by the Cincinnati Price-Current. The sales in this market yesterday were 1,500 bbls mess pork in one lot, taken on speculation, at \$20, and two lots of 500 bbls each at the same. Last evening there were more buyers, but no more sales at this figure. In bulk mess pork, 5,000 shoulders at $\frac{1}{2}$ (3/4) loose. In bacon sales of 16 casks old ribbed sides, back-bone out, at 10 1/2 cts packed, 5 casks old ribbed sides at 10 1/2 cts packed, and 5 casks old shoulders at 8 cts packed. In lard a sale of 50 bbls common country at 13c. The last sales of prime keg were at 1 1/2 cts, but holders are generally asking an advance. There was considerable meat in from the country, probably 30,000 lbs., and the current rates were 8 1/2 cts for shoulders, 10 1/2 cts for hams, and 10 1/2 cts for clear sides, and for lard 11 1/2 cts for bbls and 12 1/2 cts for prime keg.

The Cincinnati Price-Current of this week gives the following comparative prices this season and last:

	1857.	1856.
Mess pork, bbl.	$19 50	$14 00
Bulk sides, lb.	9 1/2	8 1/2
Bacon sides, lb.	10	9 1/2
Bacon shoulders, lb.	9 1/2	8 1/2
Bulk lard, lb.	13 1/2	13 1/2
Keeg lard, lb.	13 1/2	13 1/2

In the grocery market the largest sale was 32 hds of low fair and fair sugar at 10 1/2 cts and 11 1/2 cts, 15 hds at 11 1/2 cts, 12 hds at 11 1/2 cts, and about 12 hds in small lots at 11 1/2 cts. In molasses only small sales at 70c for bbls and 71c for hf bbls. St. Louis sugar-house we quote at 7 1/2 cts for bbls and kegs. In coffee sales of 50 bags Rio at 11c. Sales of 5 cts rice at 5 1/2 cts.

Flour very dull and nominal at $5 40. Wheat $1 10c at $1 15. Sales of about 75 bales of fair hay from the wharf at $20 per ton.

No raw wool offering. Sales of rectified at 22 1/2 cts. Sales of 42 hds tobacco—6 at $7 15c @ $7 70, 7 at $8 25c @ $9, 6 at $9 10c @ $9 75, 7 at $10 05c @ $10 90, 5 at $11 15c @ $11 20, 5 at $12 @ $12 90, 3 at $13 05c @ $13 65, and 3 at $14 45, $15 15, and $15 95.

In bagging a sale of 250 pes at 14 1/2 cts. A sale of 20 bales cotton at 13c and 16 bales at 12 1/2 cts. Sale of 3,000 lbs washed wool from store at 25c. Sales of clover seed at $7 75 and timothy at $3 75.

To New Orleans 25c @ $1 hundred, 50c @ $100 for pork, 90c @ $100 for lard, $1 1/2 bbl for whisky; sheep @ 65c, mules @ $60, and horses and cattle @ $7 @ $8 head. To Pittsburgh and Wheeling 20c @ $100 for heavy and 30c for light freight.

NEW YORK, February 25, P. M.
Cotton market is buoyant, and holders realized a further advance of $\frac{1}{2}$ of a penny @ 1/2 sales of 4,000 bales at 14 1/2 cts for middling Orleans, 15 1/2 cts for middling uplands. Flour steady—sales of 1,500 bbls. Wheat is firm—sales of 13,000 bush. Corn declining—sales of 31,000 bush. Pork buoyant and market unsettled, and all qualities considerably advanced—sales of 500 bbls mess pork at \$22 50 @ \$23 50. Mess beef buoyant at \$15 50. Lard buoyant. Sugar and coffee firm. Lined oil firm at 87c and lard oil at \$1 10c @ \$1 15. Freight steady.

NEW YORK, CATTLE MARKET, Feb. 25.
Deer—sales to-day of 3,600 head at a decline of 50c @ 70c for inferior qualities; market active and the prices realized were from $8 50 @ $11 50. Sheep—sales of 9,000 head at declining prices. Swine firm—sales of 4,000 head.
